Thousands of U.S. Troops in France

PERSHING'S ARMY CROSSES OCEAN WITHOUT A MISHAP; ENCAMP; IN FIGHTING TRIM

Meets German Prisoners as They Land--French, Frantic With Joy, Cheer America's Fighting Force--Showered With Gifts

(By C. F. Bertelli, of International News Service.)

A FRENCH SEAPORT, June 27, (5:30 p. m. Passed by the censor)—Pershing's boys are here. Thousands of them came within the last 24 hours out of the misty vastness of the sea. A U-boat infested sea held no terrors for them—not a torpedo scratch on a transport, not a single man lost. Spic and span were weather browned faces, their eyes sparkling fight, every one of them, every inch a man, they tramped down the gangways to the strains of the Star Spangled Banner into a pandemonium of unending cheers.

Tonight they are already encamped, itching to get to the front. The camp is not far from here. It is in charge of Gen. Wm. L. Sibert, who came in command of the troops. Pershing is coming over from Paris to greet them.

As the thousands of American fighting lads came from the transports scores of German prisoners stood on the pier. Teeth-set they looked out sideways at the newcomers. Those who watched the prisoners could discern a grudging admiration in their looks.

The remarkable thing about the scene attending the real entrance of the United States into the world war through the safe arrival of the expeditionary force was the spontaneity, the touching warmth of their reception here. Not an inkling of the arrival had reached us before hand. There had been no preparation, no program with speakers of songs, no reception committee or the like. Not until the transport had safely arrived at this port ready to disembark did the real news become known. Then the people here got wild.

The first transport stuck her gray nose into the harbor in the early morning. The tiers were swarming with thousands, men were few, only the aged and wounded. The others are at the front. The realization that these newcomers are shortly to fight side by side with the men of this port who are already in the thick of battle, drove the women frantic with joy and gratitude.

The American troops answered the cheers by throwing small silver coins ashore. A roaring scramble among the street urchins followed.

The disembarkation passed off in the most orderly manner. There was not the slightest hitch. Ship after ship slipped into her berth discharging men and equipment.

From the pier the troops swung out through the streets of this port where the populace turned out to give them an ovation. The crowd showered flowers, fruit, cigarettes and dainties upon the marchers. "Vive L' Amerique" was the unending cry.

W. C. T. U. County Convention

The 8th Annual Convention of the Bedford County Woman's Christian Temperance Union, held at New Paris, June 21-22, was one of unusual interest.

Royal entertainment was provided for all delegates and visitors in attendance.

The routine work of the three business sessions consisted in reports from local unions, and County Department Superintendents; the County presidents Annual address, "Jubilee" of Unions having increased membership; L. T. L. discussions, Navy League work, presented by Mrs. Mollie Galbreath; Appointment of various committees; Election of officers, and inspiring talks by the convention speaker, Mrs. Addie B. Parsels.

These were in addition to a cordial welcome by Mrs. A. F. Richards of New Paris, and a response by Mrs. Elizabeth Stoier, of Saxton.

The climax to Thursday's session was the evening mass meeting in the Methodist Church.

A "Dry State" Pageant was a most fitting opening program number and brought the large audience to high point of enthusiasm as the processional of the twenty-eight white states and territories led by "Old Glory" told the story of their "Victory."

The stirring address delivered by State Vice President Mrs. Addie B. Parsels on the great issue of Prohibition served its purpose in arousing local temperance sentiment to a point never before attained.

Musical numbers by a chorus choir interspersed the program numbers.

A liberal offering was received and the local Union membership was increased as a result of the Convention.

Bedford County W. C. T. U. closes the year "1917" with a record most worthy and has committed herself with renewed diligence for the year "1918."

Following are the officers for the ensuing year: President, Miss L. D. Shuck, Bedford; Vice President, Mrs. Elizabeth Stoier, Saxton; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Ettie V.

THE BEDFORD CHAUTAUQUA

The Lincoln Chautauqua, which has been widely advertised for the past month, opened Tuesday afternoon, with a large and appreciative audience. The first session was opened by singing "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," after which Rev. K. A. Bishara offered prayer. Mr. Hoffman, the Superintendent, then introduced the DeKoven Male Quartette, who rendered a splendid program, consisting of numerous readings by Mr. Foote and solos, by Mr. Johnson and Mr. Pell. Following the concert Dr. Gordon, a lecturer of world-wide fame gave a sterling talk on "Six-Cylinder Living." Dr. Gordon, when once heard, will never be forgotten.

In the evening the DeKoven Quartette furnished another excellent program assisted by Miss Jean McDonald, who gave as her first number, a poem especially written for her work in Pennsylvania. Her readings in the Scotch and Negro dialects were interesting, humorous. After this entertaining program, Dr. Gordon delivered another of his very interesting, instructive, and inspiring lectures—"Making The Goal."

Wednesday afternoon and evening The Mildred Morrison Company furnished the entertainment. Miss Morrison is famous for her ability to talk just like a wee small child of three or four. She is also the soprano of the company. Miss Anderson, violinist and pianist and Mr. Taggart, from bone player and baritone accompanied Miss Morrison. Dr. Frederick Vining Fisher gave a lecture on "Horizons" in the afternoon and in the evening an illustrated lecture on "America Before the World." These lectures coming from a man who has travelled several times throughout America were packed with vital truths and interest, which held the close attention of his audience.

Thursday program was characterized by a delightful musicale by Mme. Grace Hall Rihelddaffer Company. Mme. Rihelddaffer, is acknowledged as one of the foremost concert artists of the day. Her assisting artists are Miss Louise Smith, well known solo cellist and Mr. Clarence J. Velie pianist of national reputation. A domestic science lecture with dietetic demonstrations was delivered by Margaret Hall, and a highly instructive lecture on "Health and Hygiene" by Louise McIntyre. In the evening Jeanette Kling, a favorite with the Lincoln Chautauqua, gave a dramatic recital. After making a study of the latest plays she selects one which she thinks best suited to her audience and brings that one to them. No one who has once heard the famous Brook's band will want to miss either concert on Friday. Sunday morning there will be Union church services in the tent, Dr. Bishara, preaching, and seats will be reserved for a large choir.

The junior Chautauqua this year is under the supervision of Miss Straugfeldt and every morning there has been practice for a pageant "America Yesterday and Today" to be given Saturday evening, at 7:30. The Chautauqua thus far has been a splendid success and with the co-operation not only of our own townspeople but of those of surrounding towns, we will make this years Chautauqua one that shall not be forgotten.

Father Downes Leaves Bedford

It is with deep regret that the many friends of the Rev. William E. Downes learn of his departure from Bedford. Bishop McGarvey, of this diocese, recognizing Father's unusual ability, has appointed him irremovable rector of St. John's, Bellefonte. Father Downes was educated at Mt. St. Mary's Emmetsburg, and the Catholic University of Washington, where he graduated with high honors. Before coming to Bedford, he was assistant rector at St. Columbia, Johnstown. In 1907, he succeeded Father Cashman and during the nine and one half years of his pastorate has endeared himself to the people of Bedford, who wish him every success in his new parish.

Father McKenna, of Dudley, will succeed Father Downes, as rector at Bedford.

HARRISBURG NEWS LETTER

Democracy, without any prearranged plan, gave to the thirty-three third class cities of the state the police civil service bill which became a law when Governor Brumbaugh approved it several days ago. Republican reactionaries, who had gone to sleep at the switch and allowed the bill to be sent to the governor contrary to plans, and tried to kill it by familiar tactics. But A. Ramsey S. Black the young Harrisburg Democrat who set new records by beating the Republican organization in Harrisburg last November, jumped into the breach. He led anti-gang assemblages into a formation which broke up the half past the eleventh hour assault on the bill. Governor Brumbaugh, for some reason which is regarded as inexplicable in view of his general record, backed up Black's notable play by prompt approval of the bill. Possibly the governor was led to do the right thing because the Penrose forces were opposed to the bill.

The police civil service bill is one of the few measures which in any way justify the existence of the extravagant, time-killing, $1,400-per-day do-nothing session of 1917. It directly affects a thousand or so policeman and indirectly affects the millions of persons who live in third class cities or have interests therein. The police are removed absolutely from the spoils system and the way paved for administrations as void of politics as the United States postoffice.

Senator W. D. Craig, of Beaver, sponsored the police bill. But the only credit attached to him is that his name is on it. Penrose reactionaries in the Senate yelled all sorts of impeding peril when the Craig bill first appeared. But Craig was easily pacified. All he wanted was that the bill go thru the Senate. Let it be killed by the House, he could go home and brag about his clear record. So the deal was fixed up that way. But after the bill got to the House the Penrose senators slipped. They had so much else to do they forgot to watch the Craig bill. Before they knew it it was on the governor's desk.

So the senators polished up a familiar instrument. They resolved to "recall the bill from the governor for the purpose of amendment." No one could indicate the proposed "amendment." What they really wanted, of course, was to get the bill back in committee—and keep it there.

No one seemed to get on to their dodge but Black, one of the youngest members in the House. He knew what was proposed. He waited a favorable moment when he had the Baldwin-Penrose organization in the House off its guard. The Senate resolution was about to come up. Summoning parliamentary tactics to his assistance, Black forced an adjournment. The next day Brumbaugh approved the bill. Never occur.

But the bill was introduced by William E. Crow, of Fayette, and the earmark of the Republican state chairman is sufficient to ensure any measure the most favorable consideration by the Senate Republican ring. Crow introduced the bill May 22, and it was referred to the Judiciary Special Committee of which he is chairman on the same day it was reported from committee. Likewise, on May 22 it was passed on first reading, under suspended rules. Three bites out of the same apple at the same time. This was just after Harmon M. Kephart became state treasurer. Kephart is not only a staunch Penrose man but he is a co-boss of Fayette county with Crow. So anxious were the Penrose senators that some provision should be made for lame ducks who had been ousted by the Brumbaugh faction that they passed the bill finally on May 28, six calendar days from its introduction. It was handled with almost equal expedition in the House.

Approval of the bill by Governor Brumbaugh is regarded as unlikely Brumbaugh approves every bill raising salaries and creating jobs which comes to him, provided it affects departments where he has the say. But he hasn't the say in the treasury; Penrose has. Therefore, it is figured that Brumbaugh will pause when he sees Senate No 1247.

First of all, the Crow bill creates a deputy state treasurerhip at $6,000 per annum. This place, it is said is carved to fit Charles Johnson, of Montgomery, treasurer of the Republican state committee, who has been looking hungrily at the public crib ever since he resigned as state insurance commissioner last year because of Brumbaugh's high handed tactics. Then, the bill provides that the Treasury Department be further cluttered up with lawyers and clerks and bookkeepers and stenographers and messengers at salaries of from $5,000 to $1,000.

The history of the Crow bill, however, is worth remembering. It was introduced May 22. The Legislature's day of final adjournment, June 28, came five weeks and two days later. If it is possible to get such legislation thru in such a space of time, what basis is there for specious arguments that "there wasn't time" to enact really good legislation.

Should Governor Brumbaugh disapprove the treasury job bill there'll be a lot of disappointed Penrose men. All the fourteen places contemplated by the Crow bill have long since been promised.

Probably the darkest blot on the smudgy record of the do-nothing session was that which was spread by the House the Thursday before final adjournment. Petty quarrellings of the Republican factions culminated in adjournment of the House to avoid trouble, adjournment bringing with it slaughter of hundreds of House bills which lost all chance of becoming laws. One faction objected to a vote on the act suspending the full crew law during the war; another objected to a vote of the workmen compensation amendments; another objected to a vote on the Philadelphia small-council bill. More dirty linen was washed than at any time since the Senate debates over the "Investigation of the governor" early in the session. This was excellent, such washdays let the people in on a lot of incidents of political manipulation which might otherwise escape attention. But the net result of the row was that the people as usual, got the hot end of the poker at the hands of the Republican organization.

CANNING FRUIT WITHOUT SUGAR

Fruit for use in pie or salads or as stewed fruit can be put up or canned without the use of any sugar at all, according to the canning specialists of the Department. They, therefore, advise those who, because of the high price of sugar, have been thinking of reducing the amount of fruit they put up, to can as much of their surplus as possible by the use of boiling water when sugar sirup is beyond their means. Any fruit they say, may successfully be sterilized and retained in the pack by simply adding boiling water instead of the hot sirup. The use of sugar, of course, is desirable in the canning of all kinds of fruits and makes a better and ready sweetened product. Moreover, most of the fruits when canned in water alone do not retain their natural flavor, texture and color as well as fruit put up in sirup. Fruit canned without sugar to be used for sauces or desserts must be sweetened.

Directions for Canning Fruits Without Sirup

Can the product the same day it is picked. Cull, stem, or seed and clean the fruit by placing it in a strainer and pouring water over it until it is clean. Pack the product thoroughly in glass jars or tin cans until they are full. Use the handle of a tablespoon, wooden ladle, or table knife for packing purposes. Pour over the fruit boiling water from a kettle, place rubbers and caps in position, partially seal if using glass jars, seal completely if using tin cans. Place the containers in a sterilizing vat such as a wash boiler with false bottom, or other receptacle improvised for the purpose. If using a hot water bath outfit, process for 30 minutes; count time after the water has reached the boiling point, the water must cover the highest jar in container. After sterilizing remove packs, seal glass jars, wrap in paper to prevent bleaching and store in a dry, cool place.

If you are canning in tin cans it will improve the product to plunge the cans quickly into cold water immediately after sterilization. When using a steam pressure canner instead of the hot water bath, sterilize for 10 minutes with five pounds of steam pressure. Never allow the pressure to go over 10 pounds.

GERARD SAYS LONG WAR

Germany Has 12,000,000 Men in Military Service, He Declares

Despite her losses Germany now has nearly 12,000,000 men in military service and her military strength has not been broken, James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, told the Broadway association at its luncheon at the Astor Hotel, New York.

In estimating the German losses

he said the Germans, had lost 500,000 men in prisoners, 500,000 permanently incapacitated, 500,000 less severely wounded and about 1,500,000 killed, a total of 3,000,000 men.

Since the war she has called yearly 400,000 recruits to the colors.

Germany mobilized 8,000,000 men in ten days, he said, "but the United States could not mobilize more than 20,000 in the same time."

Mr. Gerard said this country should look forward to a long war and that it should economize in food.

BOARD NAMED TO SELECT SOLDIERS

Prominent Local Men Will Have Charge—Enrolled Will Be Drawn By Numbers

Final preparations for the drafting of registered men between the ages of 21 and 30 years, for the army have practically been perfected. Governor Brumbaugh has been notified by the War Department of the appointment of conscription boards for Pennsylvania. These boards will pass upon exemptions. The state has been apportioned into sub-divisions of approximately 30,000 population for each of which a board has been named.

Bedford County's board is composed of Dr. Walter Hill, Sheriff Andrew Dodson and Prothonotary Charles R. Mock.

The first duties of the draft boards will be to compile numbered lists of those registered for military service, it is expected. The select-draft will be made in much the same way as a jury is drawn except that numbers instead of names will be placed in the wheel. Protection against favoritism is provided, it is pointed out, by the numbered lists. In this way it is hoped to eliminate the possibility of showing partiality to any one subject to the first call to arms. Each board will be required to prepare four copies of the registration list. One will be retained by the board, one kept in a conspicuous place, one made available to the local press and the fourth will be sent to Provost Marshal General Crowder. The list will show each man's number. When the drawing is made numbers instead of names will be taken from the wheel so that the identity of those selected in the lottery will not be known until reference is made to the official list.

Men Drawn Must Report

The duty of answering to the results of the drawing will devolve upon the man whose number is drawn. He will be held responsible for apprising himself of the results in so far as they may require him to present himself for military service. If his number is drawn, he must report. This does not withhold the privilege of appearance before the exemption board to show cause why he should not serve.

When the drawing of men for military service is made, the physically able and the physically unfit, the married men with the dependent families and the single men without dependents will be represented alike in the unidentified numbers in the wheel. This will place a heavy burden on the exemption board, as it is estimated that two out of three will be exempted from the military service on physical or other grounds.

In this way all those available for service of the ten million who registered will be made ready for the country's call, and from them the first increment of 625,000 will be assembled. The others will be called as the need develops as the war goes on. Plenty of time will be given for drafted men to arrange their personal affairs and report to the cantonment camps. It is hoped to have them all in training by Sept. 1 or very soon thereafter. The cantonment for Bedford County boys will be at Annapolis Junction, near Baltimore, Maryland.

Miss Abigail Blackburn, of Ann Arbor, Mich., is home to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Howard Blackburn.

CUMBERLAND BOY SENT TO FRANCE BY U. S. TO STUDY AEROPLANES

Mark Deibaugh One of 32-Selected to Study New Model French Airship

Mark A. Deibaugh, son of Mrs. Ada Deibaugh, 279 North Mechanic street and brother of "Babe" Deibaugh, has left for France to study the manufacture and design of the new high speed airplanes. Before leaving for the European country he visited Bedford, his former home, that he might learn if his parents were of foreign birth. This was required or the United States government before he was accepted.

The federal government is sending thirty-two men to the French airplane manufacturing plants for a brief course of study in the design and construction of the lighter and faster machines now being used on the battle fronts. Each of these men is a skilled machinist. Mr. Deibaugh was selected as one of five from a group of three thousand applicants for the positions. He had been working on the construction of American airplanes during the past two years.

The French and Italian airplanes are lighter and faster than those made in America. They develop a speed of one hundred and fifty-two miles per hour and have a fighting range of twenty thousand feet. They are capable of ascending so high that it is necessary to equip them with oxygen tanks to supply oxygen to both the operator and engine. It is common, according to Mr. Deibaugh, for an aviator on a battle front to ascend four miles above the surface of the earth. When airplanes come in contact at a high altitude the shots from their guns can be heard on the earth, but they can not be seen with the naked eye.

Deibaugh is a graduate of the Allegany county high school class of 1907.

His father was Chinaweth Deibaugh, who formerly lived at the Chalybeate and who was killed in West Va., ten or twelve years ago, while acting as engineer on the road.

The young man is very skillful as a machinist and has been working in Detroit, Mich., for several years.

GOODBYE OF GUARDS DUE

ABOUT JULY 15

All Not in U. S. Service Will Go Then to Camps and Thence to France

Mothers, wives and sweethearts of all national guardsmen not in the Federal service will say goodbye to them about July 15, to see them no more until the war's end unless a wound or furlough sends them back from France. Guardsmen in the Federal service are those now protecting public utilities.

Orders from the War Department yesterday cleared up doubt as to the distribution of the National Guard throughout the country. The men will be assembled in State camps before being sent to the divisional cantonments in construction in the South and West.

The length of time the men will remain in the State camps depends solely upon the work of preparation on the cantonments. It is believed at headquarters these cantonments will be completed not later than Sept. 1. They are to be located in the South so that they may have the advantage of a hot weather.

In the State camps the training will be in small units. The cantonments probably will house 10,000 men each. New York's guard cantons the Sixth National Division, but it is probable that many of the cantonments will be a part of the identity in the big camps.

When the cantonments are completed the men now guarding public utilities will be relieved of that work and sent to the division camps. This leaves the problem of guarding the utilities yet to be worked out. Headquarters has received no orders of information relative to the probable solution of this.

The Candellilla Plant.

The wax of the candellilla plant is used in making candles, phonograph records, wood and leather polish, floor wax, certain varnishes, linoleum rubber compounds and celluloid, and also enters into use in pharmacy.

In the making of electrical insulation the candellilla plant grows on the poorest quality of soil, and before was found to have a commercial value for the wax contained in it was considered a weed.

Country at War, Says Judge, and Conscientious Objection Has No Weight

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Two conscientious objectors to conscription, Frank J. Otto, Jr. and Stephen Stanley, were sentenced in the United States Court today to serve a year in prison for willfully failing to register on June 5. Stanley described himself as a revolutionary Socialist, standing "for the overthrow of the capital system of production." Otto pleaded guilty and told the Judge "to compel a man to take service when his conscience is against it is not right."

In imposing sentence Judge Thompson included an order that the men be duly registered after they had served their sentences. "Conscientious objection has no weight whatever in the present situation," the Judge said, "and individual preference or judgment cannot and will not be permitted to take the place of the laws of the Nation. The country is at war and every one has a duty to perform."

3,000,000 LIBERTY LOAN SUBSCRIBERS

More important even than the approximately $3,000,000,000 subscribed on our first war loan of $2,000,000,000 is the number of subscribers which may exceed 3,000,000. A week ago the most liberal estimate was venturing upon a figure less than a million.

The New York Federal Reserve District alone exceeded a million subscribers and approximated the total number participating in Germany's first war loan at a much higher rate of interest, when her people were lied into the belief that they had been attacked and were fighting for their national existence. Five of the twelve reserve districts contributed more subscribers than shared in the second German war loan. The whole country has more subscribers than shared in the third German war loan, if there be excluded those taking less than $50 and down to 24 cents. It has 2,680,000 more subscribers than shared in the Spanish War loan of 1898.

This great number particularly of small subscribers for from $50 to $1,000, is highly important in its war aspects. Its message to Berlin is that the American people are practically to a man behind this war to destroy the menace of a Prussian military domination. Its meaning at home is that millions of citizens hardly known to the investment markets heretofore are becoming enlisted for the war on its financial side.

And for peace after the war, how great the meaning for habits of thrift and provision for the future and stability in society and progress from so general a financial partnership of the people with their Government.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union)

LESSON FOR JULY 1

ISAIAH'S CALL TO HEROIC SERVICE.

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 6
GOLDEN TEXT—Also I heard the voice of the Lord saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I, send me—Isa. 6:8.

The lesson committee now turn for a third quarter's lesson to a series of studies in the Old Testament as found in II Kings, Ezra and Nehemiah. As an introduction, they have chosen this chapter in the book of Isaiah.

Isaiah prophesied in the latter half of Uzziah's reign, B. C. 760 and down to the early years of the reign of Manasseh about B. C. 694 (ch. 1:1). This event took place probably B. C. 755. The place was Jerusalem, the kingdom of Israel was still in existence (for 33 years longer) being utterly destroyed in B. C. 721. The name Isaiah means "the salvation of Jehovah;" his wife is called "the prophetess;" two of his sons are named and his social position was high, as shown by his intimacy with kings. Isaiah lived in troublous times. He was a reformer seeking to rescue his nation from the sins growing out of their disobedience to God. He was the leading statesman of his time, the greatest of the prophets, an author, a heroic, single-minded, patriotic, fearless, undaunted man of great personal power and influence. He was a prophet of hope; he wrote out of his long life of faithfulness and fellowship with God. The book of Isaiah falls into two great divisions; chapters 1-39 being chiefly historical, interspersed with songs and poems; chapters 40-66 are a collection of prophecies that have to do chiefly with the return from the Babylonian exile and the days of future glory for the kingdom of God.

I. Visions (vv. 1-4). As we have said, Isaiah prophesied in a time of great need. The prophet was very much discouraged. In this passage he locates his vision at a special time and place (ch. 1:1). Every man's great need today is a real vision of God. We are not so much in need of theories about God, as a vision of God himself. Uzziah's long reign of 52 years, in which the kingdom prospered and the king's name was spread abroad, stopped suddenly as an earthquake, and his glory was eclipsed (see II Chron. 26:16-19). The place in which Isaiah saw his vision was the house of God. Perhaps not in the temple, but seeing the vision from the temple the prophet looks to a house not built with hands, Jehovah's own heavenly palace. Therein he saw "the Lord sitting on a throne." Above it, or around it, were arranged hovering couriers and the seraphic choir. The majesty of this vision is indicated in verse two, its glory in verse three, and its power is indicated in verse four. The whole earth was filled with God's wondrous wisdom, love and power. Literally "the whole earth is full of his glory." The Hebrew word for holiness comes from a word meaning "to set apart—set a distance from." The holy Lord is not only sinless but he is sublime and absolute also. It may seem difficult to harmonize Isaiah's vision with John 1:18, yet these manifestations were one and the same, for all that saw Jesus saw God (John 14:9). King Uzziah was dead but the real king was living still, high and lifted up. The attempt to reason about him, what he must be and what he must not be, as if he were one of ourselves (Eph. 1:21, 21) is absurd.

II. Divisions (vv. 5-13). (1) The vision of the prophet (vv. 5-7). This vision brought conviction because it showed how far separated from God the prophet was. It also brought conversion in that he acknowledged himself to be unclean, himself and his surroundings to be vile. It also led to cleansing, for the king heard the voice of the prophet, removed his guilt and purged his sin. (2) The voice and proclamation from the king (vv. 8-13). The king called for a messenger (v. 8) and at once the prophet is found. Someone has said that "a task without a vision is drudgery; a vision without a task is a dream; while a task linked to a vision will move the world." Not only did the king ask for a messenger, but he gave the message, which the messenger was to utter (vv. 9-12). The message was to be to his own people; it was not to be a pleasant one. Verse 13 shows us this message in prophecy. Isaiah ought to fully proclaim the truth, but the people would not understand it, and the whole effect of his proclamation would be to harden them.

The Application.

What is your application of this vision for Isaiah? We are a Christian nation, but there are many degrees and kinds of Christians; those who sincerely try to follow Jesus; those who live under a Christian government, and are unaffected by Christian influences. There is only one way to save this nation from going the way of Nineveh and Tyre; that is, that justice and righteousness shall govern, and that justice and righteousness shall be the fruit of regenerated lives. The cry is for a better social environment and a more just social position.

MONDAY

OH, that dreaded wash day! Isn't there some way to do it easier—some way to avoid that terrific kitchen heat, the back-breaking job of toting wood, shoveling coal and cleaning out ashes? Yes, madam, there is.

And the Perfection will bake, boil, fry or roast at a minute's notice. Just light a match and it'll begin to "do things up brown."

Your dealer will explain its many fine points, such as the fireless cooker and the separate oven.

The open air services given last Saturday evening by the Evangelistic Church of Queen, was well attended.

The singing and services were very interesting and good.

A. L. Ickes and Will Rohm spent a day in Altoona, recently. Mrs. A. L. Ickes who has been ill all summer is not improving very fast.

Mrs. Walter Berkheimer of Hollidaysburg, has been visiting friends at this place for a week.

Mrs. J. H. Martin, of Altoona was a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bowser several days last week.

ANOTHER AUTO LAW

Governor Brumbaugh has signed the bill recently passed by the Legislature, which imposes a fine of $500 or a year's imprisonment, or both, on any automobilist who runs over and injures a person and who does not stop his car and return and render assistance to the injured person.

The young people of America lose the best part of their lives in bed of mornings.

Has Recorded Songs of Red Man

THIS picture shows Mr. Gale in Indian costume. With Mrs. Gale he presents an entire evening's program, sets the stage with special scenery and literally covers it with curios and musical instruments. He gives a brief description and history of most of the curious instruments used and tells interesting stories and legends leading up to the musical numbers, whether instrumental or vocal, which are rendered, all of them unique, melodious and new. The written music for these numbers cannot be secured in a book store. Mr. Gale was compelled to write his own music by listening to the songs of the red men and recording them, by means of the phonograph. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gale appear as Indians in costume. Mr. Gale is a vocalist, a pianist and violinist, a writer of music, a lecturer and a good story teller. The Gales will appear the fifth night of the Chautauqua.

Frank Elwood Gordon

Dr. F. E. Gordon, whom we present to our Chautauqua audience, is striking in stature and forcible in logic. His voice, enunciation and message popularize him with the public. His lectures are characterized by wit, sound sense and human sympathy. His word pictures show the skill of an artist. His illustrations reveal a student of science, biography, poetry and art. Dr. Gordon is in constant demand for the platform, where he always "makes good." He will be talked of long after the Chautauqua is over. He will deliver his lecture, "Shooting the Goal," the first afternoon of the Chautauqua. E. W. Hoch, ex-governor of Kansas, says: "I have heard Rev. Gordon's lecture 'The Fruitage of Ideals,' and greatly enjoyed it. The lecture is thoughtful and wholesome and must make all who hear it better—the real test of value in a lecture. Dr. Gordon has a fine voice, a very pleasing manner and a real message."

RUSSIANS WELCOME AID

U. S. Railroad Commission Cordially Received at Vladivostok.

The United States railroad commission appointed to aid Russia, and headed by John F. Stevens, former chief engineer of the Panama canal, has arrived here. Members of the commission were cordially received by a committee of soldiers and working men. The speeches delivered indicated eagerness on the part of the people to accept American aid in the spirit in which it is offered.

The commission spent a day studying the terminal problems at Vladivostok.

FREE SERVICE

One of the most encouraging features of the recent Liberty bond campaign was the amount of free service that was given. It has in the recent past been an unfortunate fact that people expect pay for so many services to public causes which they should contribute for the public good.

Formerly a great many public enterprises used to be prompted with gratuitous labor. The old timers got out with their spades and water pots and planted trees along the highways on their own time. They never thought of asking pay for it. Now we call on the municipality to do that kind of thing at public cost. If a man saw a bad place in the road, he would get out and mend it out of public spirit. Perhaps the possibility of that has gone by in these days when motors are tearing our roads all to pieces. But the old spirit of helpfulness in such matters was very praiseworthy.

In the country districts they say that the cattle shows and county fairs were started on gratuitous service. Farmers would give grain and hay and their own time. Now most of such services have to be paid for.

The war is bringing the hearts of the people closer together and reviving the old spirit of community service. The newspapers did their bit in the Liberty bond campaign, by contributing millions of inches of free space that cost them good money. Financiers and bond selling houses are entitled to great credit. The selling of securities is their stock in trade on which they depend for a living. At the call of the government they gave free service and put a vast amount of work into the proposition. Many of them have sat up nights handling the detail of the thing. Keeping track of all the installment payments that are to be made will extend over many months. It is a fine spirit. If we can apply it more in our community life, it will make possible many projects heretofore regarded as merely dreams.

Abdications of History.

Ever since dynasties have existed there are records of kings having abdicated from one cause and another. Far back in the misty past one monarch gave up his throne because he was "wearied with dominion;" another retired out of preference for the freedom of private life; a third laid down his crown because his schemes failed; still another abdicated in a fit of melancholy; and there are two instances in which kings left their thrones because they were unable to cope with national crises.

CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Bedford Readers
For months Bedford citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills, by residents of this locality.

Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable?

Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement?

The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Bedford reader.

Abram Wareham, R. F. D. No. 3, Everett, Pa., says: "Last winter, I had such a lame back and pains across my loins that I could hardly get around. I couldn't stoop or lift without severe pains. My kidneys didn't act as they should. I used two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of the attack." (Statement given July 10, 1912.)

On March 4, 1916, Mr. Wareham said: "I have never had any occasion to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills since I first recommended them. They have never failed to give me excellent results and I always keep them on hand."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Wareham has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Prop., Buffalo, N. Y. Feb. 2, 21.

LEAD PIPE DANGERS

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene
by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D. LL. D.
Commissioner of Health

The durability and flexibility of lead pipe brought it into general use throughout civilized life years ago. In Pennsylvania it became quite generally used for conducting water as well as for plumbing in dwellings.

Notwithstanding the fact that much of it has been taken up from its trenches badly honeycombed by the chemical action of the sparkling spring water, and that this Department has done much to try and educate the people that water which has eaten into lead pipe is dangerous, we continue to find in service much pipe made of this material.

The price just now is almost prohibitive, yet the old pipes that are badly eaten should be replaced by metal that will not poison the water.

Block tin pipe is too expensive. Galvanized pipe can be used, but it is not altogether satisfactory because the hot water will take off more or less lead from the galvanized surface.

Black wrought iron pipe heated and then rolled in asphaltum varnish and stood on end so as to drain out the surplus coating, will make a very serviceable pipe that will resist the rust for many years without interfering with the potability of the water.

Copper pipes are too expensive during these war times to consider in any ordinary buildings and while good, they might as well be dismissed from consideration.

Lead pipe plated with tin is also dangerous with some of our sparkling spring waters. The tin plating is often imperfect owing to bubbles and scratches on the inside of the pipe, and wherever the edge of the tin is exposed with the edge of the lead, electric action takes place and rapidly destroys the lead, which poisons the water.

When the spring and creek waters are active in their destruction of lead pipe and are used in long conduits to carry the water for domestic use, Bright's Disease is often produced.

These beautiful clear waters that are perfectly wholesome for domestic purposes will often become deadly poisonous if permitted to pass through lead pipes for a long distance.

Meeting of Napier, State Line Good Roads Association

On Thursday, June 21, 1917, at eight p. m., the Napier, State Line Good Roads Association held their regular meeting. The meeting being held in the School House, at Mann's Choice, Pa., where a large crowd was present. Many new petitions were taken by various members in an effort to get many signers as possible. Having to date approximately one thousand petitioners, we feel that our goal of at least three thousand will be compiled in time. New members were accepted making a total membership of 150. The next meeting will be held at Hyndman, Pa., on July 6, 1917, at 8 p. m., at which time we expect to be favored with addresses by speakers that are prominent in Pennsylvania life today. We extend an invitation to one and all to be present.

PLOT TO RUIN BIG DAM

Explosion on or Under a Dredge Indicates a Larger Scheme Lancaster, Pa., June 25.—A large dredge in the tail race in the Susquehanna River, some distance below the huge power dam at Holtwood, near here, was blown up late this afternoon by a mysterious explosion. One man was killed, a dozen were impaled and several are missing.

It is believed the dredge struck a mine which, it is reasoned, had been sent down the river to destroy the dam.

The Pennsylvania Water & Power Company owns the plant at Holtwood. The tail race, formerly Culler's Falls, was being dredged, and, late this afternoon, dynamite on or under the dredge exploded, sinking the craft. A negro was seen to shoot up in the air and then disappear in the river. The other men escaped.

New Machine Gun Mount With Periscope

An improved machine-gun mount designed by an American inventor for use of the allies in the European trenches, was turned over to the ordnance department of the United States Army when diplomatic relations with Germany were severed according to the July Popular Mechanics Magazine. Without material rearrangement it will carry any machine gun used by the army. The mount weighs 150 lbs and can be completely disassembled in 10 seconds. In case of retreat it could be carried to the rear by five men, the separate units weighing not over 35 lbs. each. The weapon can be aimed in a complete horizontal circle for straight blanket fire, or at any angle from direct overhead fire to a muzzle depression of 45 degrees. A periscope feature gives the gunner in trench fire complete sight of the field, while himself entirely concealed from view.

Made Major in Regular Army, Youngest Major in U. S. Army. Word has been received by Mrs. A. B. Egolf, that her cousin, Roger Carter Alexander, of Paris Missouri, and only 33 years has been made by personal selection of General J. J. Pershing, a major in the United States Regular Army and will be a member of General Pershing's Army Staff in France in the conflict with Germany. Mr. Alexander stood second in his class at West Point. He is the youngest major in the army and the personal selection by General Pershing attests his splendid ability.

Piano Club Recital

The Recital given by the Bedford Piano Club for the benefit of the Navy League in Assembly Hall on Thursday, June 15, was one of the most artistic ever given by these talented Bedford artists.

The Bedford Piano Club reorganized October, 1915, by Miss Cora McGirr, included many of Bedford's most talented musicians. It has been the custom of the club to close their year's work with a recital given to a limited number of their friends. Responding this year to the appeal of the Navy League they agreed to charge admission and devoted the proceeds $30 to this patriotic cause.
